

Offer a content sales system to your clients

With help of our content distribution software, your clients can build their own website where they can sell access to a various type of content like creative videos, music, tickets to events or conferences, e-Books, architect plans, software and more. They are not only able to sell, but also serve on their website.

Page builder

Your clients will be able to build their own content sales website under their logo, name and domain

Mobile apps

Your clients will be able to use mobile apps for content and sales management. There is also a client app that allows them to view purchased content

Video streaming

Your clients can sell access to videos that can be served to customers through a "client panel"

Bundling

Your clients will be able to create content containers as a bundle offer and sell it to customers. For example, a video with a PDF and a ticket to an event

Files selling

Your clients will be able to sell different type of files like specialized PDFs. The system is equipped with a range of tools like watermarking to help to protect the content

Tickets sales

Your clients can easily sell tickets to events and conferences. The system is equipped with a useful mobile app for entrance ticket checking

Check out our sandbox system at <https://cdi.io>

